Benefits Heading: Don't Just Shoot – Shoot to Survive

Benefits Subheading #1: Real-World Preparedness

Supporting copy: Typical indoor range practice can only take your shooting abilities so far. Our training takes your shooting to the next level. We focus on real-world skills for self-defense. The kind that will give you and your family real peace of mind. We use hands-on drills to build experience and the mindset to handle stress – all in a safe and controlled setting.

Benefits Subheading #2: Confidence in Every Shot

Supporting copy: Learn the basics that build the foundation for becoming an accurate and safe shooter.

Benefits Subheading #3: Go Beyond State Requirements

Supporting copy: Sometimes the minimum state requirements just won't cut it. That's why we built our course: to help you develop the proficiency and skills you need to keep yourself and your loved ones safe. Our mission is to provide you with the confidence and experience to act effectively when it matters most.

Differentiator Heading: Training for When It Counts Most

Supporting Copy:

Look, passing the test and getting your permit is just the start. The state requirements are the bare minimum, and I think we can both agree that's not enough. If you ever find yourself facing a life or death situation, "minimum requirements met" just won't cut it.

At Red Ronin Defense, our training goes way beyond just checking boxes. We give you the real-world skills and knowledge you need to get yourself home safely. We offer the kind of training that could make the difference between going home to your family or ending up as a tragic headline.

We're not going to have you shoot a few paper targets and go home. We're going to teach you how to assess threats, avoid confrontation, and prevail if you have no other choice. We go in-depth on situational awareness, de-escalation, using cover, and firefight tactics – the kind of stuff that state exams don't even touch.

Passing the test may be easy, but being prepared for the fight of your life? That takes next-level training. That's what we offer at Red Ronin Defense: not just a permit, but the ability to protect yourself and your loved ones when it counts the most.
